SOCIAL ACTIVITIES:

PROGRAM: Sam Sciara (pronounced SKY-ra) of Lockcorp presented. Sam has been married to his wife Pam for 22 years. Sam has 3 boys, 2 grandsons, and a granddaughter on the way. He grew up in Fultondale and went to Fultondale High School. Sam started Lockcorp in 2013, and he joined City Salesmen's Club in 2020. Sam says automotive locksmithing has drastically changed over the last number of years, and it's very expensive. The equipment the locksmith needs is expensive, so Lockcorp does not currently do automotive locksmithing, especially on newer vehicles. They cater to commercial work because residential comes with complaints and headaches. They do master key systems (this is where there's a master key, and each separate part of the building has its own master key, and so on down the line). Lockcorp has also gotten into access control; this is when you unlock stuff from your phone. They do alarms and safes as well. Lockcorp is one of the only companies that will move a safe that weighs more than 2,500 lbs. They can do car door fobs depending on the make and model of the vehicle.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS: Howard Whatley presided as sergeant. Paul Dangel was late. Sam Sciara mispronounced Joseph Habshey's last name and then he argued with the sergeant. Sam also told Hank that he had more time to talk during his presentation. Dan Weingarten forgot about Ken Graves. Hank Spencer broke parliamentary protocol by forgetting to call for a vote on Greg Troncale's leave of absence request. Tim Hightower was credited $1 for reminding Hank about the procedure.

JACKPOT: $17 won by Mike Lorino.

GREETERS AND PRIZES: Eric Durrett won by Daniel Gallegly.
