Nick mentioned that he already has relationships with numerous members in the Club, and he can see why it has not only survived but thrived for so long. You GIVE more than you GET. After the pandemic, Nick says Birmingham definitely needs the World Games. It will be July 7-17, 2022, and it will provide 10 days of national and international exposure. Over half a million people are expected to come to Birmingham for the World Games. There will be many great and interesting sports. Visit twg2022.com/sports for a list of the athletic events. 14 different venues will host the events. Flag Football will be an interesting one, and it is also hopeful to be included in the Olympics in 2028. Birmingham is looking at a $256 million economic impact. The World Games is wanting to get 2,500 volunteers, so look at the sports and see if you want to volunteer to help with something. There are also large and small sponsorship packages. The exposure with The World Games will be great, so if you're interested in being a sponsor, talk to Nick.
