PROGRAM: Jeff Phillips - American Pest Control (The Man, The Myth, The Legend)
Jeff Started off his program with a moth joke that killed. American Pest Control has been family since it opened over 50 years ago. They are the 3rd oldest pest control company in the state of Alabama. Jeff spoke on the biggest challenge his company is facing today, which is trying to train and breed new talent and employees that will stick around for the long haul. He spoke on new technologies in the pest control industry, and how they do not perform services inside the home any longer. They perform procedures on the exterior of the home to prevent the pests from making their way inside. Jeff also shared a few pest myths that have been busted and the proper way to repel. Jeff gave one of the funniest programs I have ever witnessed in the City Sales Men's Club. Outstanding Program and a delivery that could make anyone roll over laughing.

SERGEANT AT ARMS: Cody Burns (He fined his own table!)
