SOCIAL ACTIVITIES:

PROGRAM: Business Meeting. Matt Gray brought a reversible screwdriver and you can put your logo on it. Dan Weingarten reports that John Sivley and Dean Ledbetter really came through for him late in the day on Friday about PPP loan stuff. Phillip Webb's company has expanded out of just Jefferson County and the surrounding area; Phillip is now in North and Central Alabama and is looking for agents who buy and sell businesses in North Alabama. Sam Mosolino would like to meet with your Church leaders about scheduling trips to the Holy Land. See Sam Sciara about gun safes. Keith Keller says to talk to him or CD Denson about cybersecurity insurance (see what's happened to Colonial Pipeline). Cody Burns is taking an active role in Mickey's Weather Kids at WBRC, so if you or your friends have kids aged 6-12 who want to be on the weather with Mickey Ferguson, call Cody. James Lucas says that many people are needing equipment right now, and that equipment needs packaging. So call James if this sounds like you. Tom Meter gave a great description of how his cleaning crew is much more specialized than people who try to do it themselves. There are a lot of work-from-home HR issues right now, and Joe Daniel and the people at Streamline CXO can help. Send Dean Ledbetter your Man of the Year nominations.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS: Hank Spencer presided as sergeant. Dr. Alex Casey was late. Joe Fuller got a $5 fine for calling Tim Hightower knowing full well that the Club meeting was in progress. Britton was late and tried to slide in without people noticing. $2 fine.

JACKPOT: $12 won by Tom Meter

GREETERS AND PRIZES: James Lucas won by Dean Ledbetter
Frank Taylor won by Ben Blackerby

NEXT WEEK'S PROGRAM: Darryl White

NEXT WEEK'S GREETERS: Wes Cline and Mark Vance
Prayer led by Tommy Heard
